

In the story "The Selfish Giant," the giant undergoes a significant transformation from being selfish and isolated to becoming compassionate and caring. Discuss the key moments and experiences that lead to this change in the giant's behavior. How does the presence of the children in his garden play a crucial role in his transformation?